

Morgan-Gedeon Story Is Denied By Griffith---Has Not Talked With Huston

GRIFF DENIES DEAL WAS ON TO SEND MORGAN TO YANKS

"All Hot Air," Is Reply of Manager When Asked Regarding Gedeon Rumor.

HAS NOT SEEN HUSTON

Knows of No Trade or Sale Involving Any Member of Washington Ball Club.

"This talk that I was ready to turn over Ray Morgan to the Yankees as soon as I obtained Joe Gedeon's signed contract for 1916 is all hot air," said Clark Griffith today, when asked concerning a tale from New York that Gedeon's flopping to the Yanks spoiled a deal between the Washington and New York clubs.

"I have had no talk with either Bill Donovan or Captain Huston concerning Ray Morgan. I read in a New York paper that Huston was coming here to see me, but so far he hasn't arrived. I know of no trade or sale involving any of my players at this time."

According to New York writers, Huston was bound for Washington to complete the deal for Ray Morgan when he heard that Joe Gedeon had signed with the Yanks. Griffith was said to have promised the Yankees Morgan as soon as he had Gedeon hooked, and Huston then went on to Chicago, realizing that the deal was off.

If the baseball war continues, many minor league players will be found in the ranks of the Yanks. John Gansel, manager of the Brookfield, announces that he has eight international league players in line for 1916. The Pacific Coast League is a target for George Stovall, the Kansas City Feds' leader, who is spending a busy offseason interviewing players about to go to the majors. The Southern Association, American Association and Western League are also expected to provide the Yanks with several good players, unless peace is declared.

"The Federal League is bluffing about an invasion of New York," says Ben Johnson, the American League's boss. "If it isn't bluffing, it is about to put its head into the last fatal noose. The outlaw cause is dead and has been dead for months, so far as the American League is concerned."

"The National League is paying no particular attention to the announcement that the Feds will invade New York," says John Gansel, president of the National League. "No peace proposals have been tendered since the 'world's series' that was unable because it asked for two ten-cent circuits. We declined to consider such a proposition. Also, there is no possible chance for any Federal League player to buy into a National League club."

The Feds are now preparing to hold a meeting in New York in about ten days. It is expected that some definite announcement will then be made regarding the warfare on the diamond and that President Gilmore may tell just where the Feds will locate their park in the metropolis.

"Eva" Has Merry Party When Everybody Bowls

"Eva" had her party last night at the Rathskellar and today many a member of the Washington section of the Electric Vehicle Association is totting lame arms and lame legs as a result. "Eva" is going to have these parties right along now, according to President Bruce Emerson, last night's being merely the first of the winter season.

The members and their guests spent a pleasant evening knocking down the ducks. Frank McKelving proved the most skillful, knocking up 12 for high string and winning a handsome silver cup. J. T. Avery got a present for low score, while Harry Ward was remembered with an unique gift for his bravery in bowling at all.

Charles A. "Skipper" Watson was chairman of the entertainment committee and provided a tasty buffet lunch for "Eva." Those present included President Bruce Emerson, Secretary Charles M. Marsh, Fred Harveycuter, A. L. Dixon, Charles A. Watson, Sam Neale, J. J. Johnson, Harry Orme, Edgar Orme, Jim Henley, Harry Duckstein, L. R. Gennill, William Orme, James Orme, Jack Stearns, C. R. Erkman, "Stuffy" Jones, Harry Ward and L. A. Douglar.

MALONEY WILL GIVE AWAY FIVE TURKEYS

Ten High Bowlers in Duckpin Series to Compete for the Birds.

Bowlers at the Southeast alleys are to have an opportunity to win a Thanksgiving turkey through the process of rolling high duckpin scores. Manager Pete Maloney has instituted a competition whereby five birds will be awarded to the five bowlers finishing with the highest scores.

The conditions of this novel competition require that the ten highest bowlers in any three games between the present time and the evening of November 24 shall engage in a roll-off on that night. The five survivors of the roll-off will then bowl the Thanksgiving turkey tournament but one game.

From Foul Line To Pit

Probably the best duckpin score for any team rolling last night was accomplished by Navy, of the Departmental League, with a total of 134 pins. Navy easily defeated Labor, although the opening string went to the Sailors.

In this same set the largest individual score also turned up. McCormick, having registered one game of 138, Wortendyke and Mangum starred for Labor, the former setting a game of 128 and the latter 122.

Chemists pocketed all three from Labor in the Patent Examiner's League, the rolling of Scheffer and Rowley being the potent factors in the victory.

Two clean sweeps were recorded in the Masonic circuit, Dawson winning from Potomahs and Federal making King David easy prey.

Georgetown Commercial League staged two sets. The K and P boys had pins to spare when C. P. Ash was encountered while Columbia Sand won a trio of games from C and C.

Waverly boosted their average in the Capital City loop by winning three from Easterns, Hazan, with games of 100, 112, and 96, led the attack on the pins for Waverly.

Princetonians dominated the Arcade Stars in a well contested set. Conradis, Sonneman, and Jones were at their best and are responsible for the clean victory.

CORNELL LOOKS FOR OPEN FIELD WORK

Ithacans in Dark as to the Strength of Washington and Lee, and So Get Ready.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 12.—With the return of Dr. Al. Sharpe to Ithaca the Cornell football squad had its final drill in preparation for the Washington and Lee game tomorrow. Most of the time was spent by the varsity in knocking down wide-open forward pass formations.

The coaches apparently think that the Southern team, whose real quality is an unknown factor, will try a lot of open field work. Guarding against this kind of playing constituted the main part of the work for the varsity.

Sharpe strung out his ends and brought Barrett, Mueller and Schleicher well up to the scrimmage line. Lewis, Hoffmann, Benedict and Schott, Cornell's backfield, tried all kinds of forward passes, not only to the ends and backs, but in only one case did they succeed in completing the play.

TODAY'S SPORT TORIAL

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

You fans have all heard a lot of the breaks in training conducted by Joe Boehling, the "Richmond Smiler." You have all heard that Clark Griffith is going to let this first-class southpaw go to other haunts. It may be true that Joe did break training on many occasions and it may be true that the Old Fox is going to dispose of him, but there are others phases to consider.

Joe Boehling, in good condition, is today one of the best pitchers in major league baseball. Not only is he a good pitcher, but he is the luckiest on the staff of the Griffins. Before Clark Griffith figures on letting him go, he is going to give the matter deep thought. Harry Harper has yet to make good as a winner in the big show. If he can do this from the start next season, there may not be a need of Joe Boehling, but a whole lot of us would rather have Boehling's luck than Harper's curve ball. Boehling will win games when Harper loses them. Just because some ball players who don't know as much as Boehling happen to have deep grouches against him is no good reason for his dismissal by the Old Fox. Just because some sport writers who have been pulled up short by Boehling when they thought they could hammer him before a crowd, don't like him, is no good and sufficient reason for the Old Fox to let go of one of the best southpaw pitchers in the American League. Boehling is said to be tied to a three-year contract, with two more years to go. Before he can be disposed of, some other club will have to accept this contract. It is a certain cinch that he cannot be sent out of the two big leagues just because some players on the team and a few sport writers don't happen to like him. There are several clubs who would seize the opportunity to get Boehling and they would gain by having him on their rolls.

One of the pet theories of the experts to show that Walter Johnson is a wonderful pitcher is to number the games in which he figures that are decided by one run. Ernie Shore, the Red Sox twirler, led the American League in one-run games last season, pitching no fewer than sixteen of them. Joe Boehling was second, with fourteen, more than any other Washington pitcher had. Boehling, in other words, pitched more games decided by one run than any other Washington pitcher. Who is to blame for that? Why, his support, of course. I have known Boehling ever since he first reported to the Washington club. He has never shirked. He has always been willing to do his utmost for good of the team. Something is wrong with the ball club when he is shunted to one side because certain players don't happen to like him. Boehling is one of the square boys engaged in professional baseball and Clark Griffith knows it. He wouldn't let him save himself a fine of $100, and Griffith knows this, too, from experience. Handled rightly, Joe Boehling would be one of the best left-handed twirlers in the big leagues in 1916. If some disgruntled sport writer, or some peevish player on the team, is allowed to drive this good pitcher to some other club, a show-down should be demanded by the fans of Washington. Personally, I shall demand such a show-down.

Tomorrow Yale will endeavor to square accounts for 1915. It matters little to the Yale to have lost to Virginia, Colgate, Washington and Jefferson, and Brown. If only a victory is scored over Princeton and Harvard, Yale, and all the so-called "big teams," figure only on one or two games. The New Haven eleven wants to win every game on the schedule, but really only two count for much, those with Princeton and Harvard. If Harvard has lost to Cornell, as it has, all will be forgotten at Cambridge if only the Princeton and Yale games are victories. Princeton is willing to lose to Dartmouth, if only Harvard and Yale are defeated. This is to be considered by all who follow football. Georgetown would consider the year successful which saw a victory over Virginia, no matter if many smaller teams won from the Blue and Gray. Therefore, Yale tomorrow tries to make amends for the worst season in its history by winning from Princeton.

Soccer football is on the advance in Washington. Have you been following the scores of the grade school games? Have you given any thought to the situation? In a year or two these same lads will be students in the high schools. They will want to play soccer football and some provision will have to be made for them. It is but a matter of a year or so before Washington's high schools will have to consider soccer football as one of the major sports of the season. Washington's weather is ideal for soccer. This game can be played throughout the winter in this latitude. As soon as the high schools take up soccer, the game will boom as never before and the time cannot come any too soon.

Trinity May Ask That Columbia Pay Guarantee

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Columbia and Trinity may not yet be at the end of their difficulties over the football game that was scheduled to be played by the two on Saturday, which Columbia canceled because of the presence of George Brickley on the Trinity team. It developed yesterday that the contract existing between the two, which Columbia has broken because of its cancellation of the game, stipulated a definite guarantee for the Trinity team, and that Trinity has no intention of letting the matter end where it seems to have stopped.

Just how much Trinity was to receive from Columbia is not known, but the Hartford authorities have no hesitation in stating that Columbia would be held to the letter of the contract in that particular at least. One lawyer, whose opinion was asked yesterday, said that Trinity would be within its rights in demanding the guarantee money, but if the team should play fully across on Saturday, as reported, the Trinity case would lose much of its strength and would probably be thrown out of court if taken before the law.

DEPARTMENT TENNIS

MEN ATTEND SMOKER

More Than One Hundred Gather to Pay Honors to Navy Team and L. I. Doyle.

The Departmental Tennis League is expected to become a member of the National Lawn Tennis Association, following the hearty invitation of Vice President A. L. Hoskins, of the association, at last night's smoker at the New Ebbitt, at which more than 100 members were in attendance.

Declaring that the Departmental circuit was the only one of its kind in existence and compelling in every way the excellent work that had been done in conducting more than 300 matches with but twelve defaults, Vice President Hoskins said the association would be proud to welcome the league among its 282 clubs, with more than 600,000 members.

The first annual smoker was given for the benefit of the winning Navy team, which is composed of Robinson, Hancock, Prior, Calder, Gibson, Burton, Clifford, Old and Thamon. J. M. Hancock, of the winning team, was toastmaster. A. W. Morrish, editor of American Lawn Tennis, spoke enthusiastically of the league and delighted the members with a description of the big matches this summer in which William M. Johnson defeated former champions Norris Williams and Maurice McLoughlin.

A. Y. Leach, Jr., chairman of the Columbia Country Club tennis committee; Ezra Gould, president of the Dumbarton Club; Louis I. Doyle, secretary and prime mover of the Departmental League; Col. W. W. Hart, a superintendent of public buildings and grounds; John P. Bethune, of the same department; and J. M. Hancock spoke during the evening.

J. M. Hancock in behalf of the league presented Secretary Doyle with a gold watch in appreciation of his efforts during the year in keeping the league together despite the many obstacles in the way.

Matches were played every Saturday afternoon on the municipal courts and those of the Bachelors' Club, and it was Doyle's persistent effort that kept the many matches up on scheduled time. Plans are under way for a more comprehensive schedule of play. More courts have been promised the league and it is not unlikely that affiliation with the National Association will be a thing of the near future.
